Second Meeting of Woman's Home Mission Society.

RETIRES FROM PRESIDENCY

Mrs. Crouse Steps Down After Thirty Years in the Office.

REPORTS OF THE COMMITTEES

Result of Election—Personnel of Board of Directors-Other Matters of Interest.

Baptist Home Mission Society, the meetings of which organization lead those of the other societies during anniversary week of the American Baptist Societies, being held in Cavalry Church, occurred this morning at the church. The session was called to order shortly after 9 o'clock by the president, Mrs. J. N. Crouse. After devotional service the reports of the various committees were in order. The memorial committee reported that during the past year twelve deaths of members of the organization were noted. Mrs. Walker of Philadelphia read the report of the board of directors, and directed attention to the letter relative to the desire of Mrs. J. N. Crouse to be released from the duties of the presidency, which she has performed for the thirty years of the existence of the organization. The letter from Mrs somewhat better-than when I left home, I am still far from my normal good health; and my first duty is to get well, that I may be of use to others. In regard to relinquishing the presidency, I feel that it must be done, although it has cost me many struggles. The thirty years in which we have worked together have been filled with blessed memories and rich experi-ences, and I do not intend, in relinquishing the presidency, to sever my connection with the society and with the work, but shall hope, as soon as health and strength may return, to be with you whenever prac-ticable.

"I need not tell you that my heart and thoughts will be with you during the annual meeting, and my hope and belief is that the right person will be chosen to fill the years."

Substance of Reports.

It was reported that 233 names have been dded to the list of life members during the year, making the number from the beginning up to March 31, 1907, 4,227, and that here was in the treasury at the beginning of the year $42.52 of the general fund. The receipts during the year were $103,448.92, and the disbursements during the year were $100,981.22, leaving a balance of $2,510.22. Further it was set forth:

"We are profoundly grateful for legacies through which our beloved ones who have passed from the toll of earth to the restful passed from the toll of earth to the restrul activity of heaven have greatly helped in the carrying forward of the work. One of $4,000 was the bequest of Miss Clara Edgecomb, Lima, Ind.; another of $3,619.75, the final payment on the legacy of Mrs. M. L. Higbie, Fairport, N. Y. Smaller gifts in this line aggregated $944.50, making a total of $8,564.25.

"The contributions toward the purchase of a site and erection of a new building for

This, added to the sum reported last year, makes the total contributions to March 31, 1907. $59.776.75. "From this sum $22,000 was expended for the site, fully paying for it, and $1,188.08 for other necessary expenses, leaving on hand at the close of the year $36,588.67 in the building fund.

"The sum of $9.718.85 is the estimated value, as far as reported, of the contents of boxes and barrels of clothing and other supplies sent, mainly to families of missionaries supported otherwise, in whole or in part by the American Baptist Home Mission Society, and to missionaries of our own society for use in industrial schools and for distribution among the poor.

"The value of goods does not apply on the apportionments, which are made on a cash basis.

"Under a plan of co-operation with the American Baptist Home Mission Society, $3,480 has been paid to our appointees, preceptresses and matrons in its schools, and $3.435 to missionaries in Cuba and Porto Rico, making a total of $6,915.

"The Woman's Baptist Home Mission Society of Michigan, in co-operation with the Woman's Baptist Home Mission Society, has placed in its treasury during he year $1,703.63.

"While happy to report the purchase of a site for our proposed new home for the Baptist Missionary Training School, and $36,588.67 in the treasury at the close of the fiscal year of the society toward the $36,588.67 in the treasury at the close of the fiscal year of the society toward the amount authorized for the erection of the building, we emphasize the fact that this left $63,411.33 still to be secured of the $100,000 which the board was authorized to ask for by vote of the society at the annual meeting held at Dayton, Ohio, May 16-17, 1906.

"Convinced that the raising of this fund would be facilitated by the appointment of a general financial secretary, with a spe-cial assistant in each state, the position of general financial secretary was tendered to and acepted by Miss Martha E. Harris, duty has been to take charge of the busi-ness of raising money for the building fund, and nobly has she assumed the re-sponsibility and discharged the obligations, sponsibility and discharged the obligations, refusing any remuneration in the way of salary, but simply the necessary expenses incurred in correspondence, the mailing of literature and attendance at meetings involving traveling. There have been associated with her a number of state financial secretaries giving their time and talent under the same terms. Your board desires here and now to express its profound appreciation for one and all of these whose preciation for one and all of these whose service is truly a 'labor of love.' Interdenominational Committee. "At the board meeting October 2, 1906, the corresponding secretary called attention to a letter written by Mrs. Mary C. Reynolds, corresponding secretary of the Woman's American Baptist Home Mission Soci ety, suggesting the advisability of a conference of representatives of women's home mission boards for the purpose of discuss ence of representatives of women's nome mission boards for the purpose of discuss-ing the matter of inaugurating an annual interdenominational home mission confer-ence, in connection with the Northfield ence, in connection with the Northfield meetings.

"Mrs. Reynolds' suggestion and invitation met with very prompt and favorable action, and Mrs. R. R. Donnelly, chairman of the board, and Mrs. John Nuveen were appointed to represent our board in a conference which was subsequently held. December 13, in the rooms of the Presbyterian home mission board, 156 5th avenue, New York city. Our board added the suggestion that the movement be made to include Winona as well as Northfield. Baptists, Congregationalists, Methodists and Presbyterians were represented in this conference, one result of the deliberations being the appointment of a permanent committee, and the authorising of Mrs. Donnelly and Mrs. Nuveen, our representatives, to take up the matter in the west. Subsequently, by vote of our board, Mrs. Franklin Johnson was added to assist in the work in the west, and added to assist in the work in the west, and Mrs. R. Maplesden of New York to repre-sent our board in meetings of the general committee in the east.

committee in the east.

"January 3, 1907, representatives from the Baptist, Congregational, Methodist and Presbyterian Women's Home Mission-Societies met in Chicago and organized the interdenominational committee of women for home mission conferences of the central west. Before taking steps to organize a school for home mission study the committee decided to ask the interdenomina-tional committee of the central west, rep-resenting women's boards of foreign mis-sions, whether further time for study and conference could be arranged this coming summer in their school of missions at Wi-nona, June 24 to July 1, inclusive, believ-ing that by such co-operation not only time, energy and expense would be saved the women desiring to attend both confer time, energy and expense would be saved the women desiring to attend both conferences, but that the great cause of world-wide missions would be strengthened by the opportunity thus offered for broader mission study. The foreign committee, after careful consideration of the subject has cordially welcomed the home committee to a participation in its program, and has graciously granted such time as it could for the presentation of our distinctive work, considering the fact that its program was fully outlined before the request was made. It is hoped that in another year it will be possible to form plans for a broader and more equal cooperation."

Election of Officers.

At the close of the reading of the repor Mrs. S. M. Fulton of Ohio, of the nominat. ing committee, declared that the member of the committee had decided to recommend the re-election of all the old officers of the society with the exception of Mrs. Crouse, the president. Mrs. Fulton explained that the members of the committee had been unable to decide upon a successor at the present time, and after recommending that work performed by the retiring president during the last thirty years. Mrs. Fulton then recommended that Mrs. R, S. McArthen recommended that Mrs. R, S. McAr-thur of New York city, vice-president-at-large, take up the duties of acting presi-dent until a successor to Mrs. Crouse is chosen. A unanimous ballot was then cast for the following officers, who were de-clared elected:

Among the Colored People.

The work that is being done by the society among colored people was discussed by Mrs. Rosetta Lawson, colored. She said that the progress made by the negro race during the forty years following emancipation was remarkable. She depicted the negro child of forty years ago leaving the old plantation home for the crowded quarters of the city, there to be guided by the mother, who, as far as directing its conduct in the new estate, was "groping in the darkness." The subsequent efforts to keep hunger from the household and contact with vice was also summed up by the speaker. Work among the mill people was discussed by Miss Henrietta Wright and Miss Gertrude Brumfield, both of South Carolina. Miss Wright said that in her work there were many causes for these work there were many causes for thank-fulness because of the fact that there were fulness because of the fact that there were many who took interest in the work, which the tokens of appreciation received plainly showed. Giving a summary of her section of the state, she said she had made 1,217 religious visits, established 31 sewing schools, attended 133 meetings and helped to work up 44 Sunday schools, and distributed more than 900 pieces of literature.

Miss Brumfield said: "Our children's meetings have been a satisfying part of the work. I only wish that the grown peeple were as easily influenced and as beautifully responsive. My Sunday school class of boys carry their Bibles every Sunday, although some cannot read at all. One converted in October is 'growing in grace' and exerts a good influence upon the class."

. In the Mining Regions. Miss Elizabeth Carr of West Virginia

spoke of the work in the mining regions of her state. She declared that at Scarbro the Sunday school work is progressing and that the work in the industrial schools and Junior Christian Endeayor and the mis-sionary work are moving forward. The meeting was adjourned at noon for luncheon, and at 2 o'clock the third session of the society began. The general topic was "The Baptist Missionary Training School." Mrs. R. R. Donnelley, chairman of the board of directors, gave a review of the work at the school, after which view of the work at the school, after which a number of the graduates gave one-minute responses. "Present Need and Outlook" was discussed by Mrs. A. G. Lester, chairman of the building committee, followed by an address by Rev. Dr. Elmore Harris, president of the Bible Training School of Toronto, Canada. At the close of the address an open discussion was held. The fourth session to be held this even.

The fourth session, to be held this even-ing at 7:30 o'clock, will begin with a service of song of twenty minutes' duration. After Scripture reading and prayer "The Incom-ing Millions" will be the subject of short ing Millons" will be the subject of short talks to be made by representatives of the German, Italian, Scandinavian, Hungarian and Slovak nationalities.

Miss Helen Waring, a missionary in Mexico, will take as the subject for an address "What About Mexico?" Many conversations were in order today relative to the

The statement that the three large societies of the convention—the American Baptist Missionary Union, American Baptist Home Mission Society and the American Baptist Publication Society—would decide to unite at the meeting to be held Thursday evening is declared to be without foundation.

What is Proposed. In speaking of the matter today Rev. Dr. Howard D. Grose, editor of the Baptist Home Mission Monthly of New York, said: "The meeting of the Baptists Thursday evening and Friday, about which so many reports have been circulated, is in response to a call issued by the secretaries of the three general Baptist societies—the Home Mission Society, the Missionary Union, which conducts the foreign mission work, and the Publication Society. Since many leading men of the denomination in Chicago, Boston and elsewhere have expressed a desire for some where have expressed a desire for some general medium through which the Baptists of the north might express their convic-tions on great moral issues or on denominational matters, a meeting to discuss the subject was gladly given place in the annisubject was gladly given place in the anniversary program by the representatives of the societies. If the proposed organization of northern Baptists takes place the new body will be advisory and not legislative, and will not interfere in any way with the denominational societies now in existence. These are incorporated bodies, with legacles and trust funds and endowments, and they could not legally be replaced or united in a common society, even were such a proposition made. That there is much which a general convention could do for the dea general convention could do for the de-nominational life is evident, and as the constituencies of the missionary and pub-lishing societies are practically the same the new organization would combine them for discussion of general questions which no one of the three societies could individually deal with. Take the proposition of union between the Baptists and Free Baptists as a case in point. There is now no central body of Baptists before which this proposition can be brought for discussion and recommendation. A northern convention, such as is proposed, could not legislate in such a matter, but its expressed opinion, as a representative body. Would doubtless as a representative body, would doubtless carry the matter to a successful conclusion. The proposed convention would be something like the national council of the Continuous control of the Control of t thing like the national council of the Congregational churches, which is also advisory only, but exerts a tremendous denominational influence. Dr. W. C. Bitting of St. Louis, one of the ablest speakers in the denomination and ardently in favor of the new organization, will open the discussion Thursday evening. There is a strong conservative element also, and a live debate may be expected. Nothing revolutionary or sensational, however, is proposed."

Home Missionary Society.

The meeting of the Women's Baptist Home Mission Society last evening in Calvary Church was attended by a large number of the members of the organization. Mrs. R. S. McArthur of New York presided. The guests were welcomed to Washington by Mrs. R. R. West, president of the Women's Baptist Missionary Association of the District of Columbia, and after the report of Mrs. R. Mapleston of Brooklyn, the reording secretary, had been heard Miss Burcording secretary, had been heard Miss Burdette, the corresponding secretary, told of the work accomplished during the past year. The progress of the work of the society in the erection of a new training school for girls in Chicago was taken up and discussed at length. Miss Burdette also stated that $50,000 of the money required for the work has been subscribed.

Fellowship Meeting.

At the fellowship meeting late yesterday afternoon Mrs. R. H. Donnelly presided n place of the president, Mrs. Crouse, who was unable to attend. The members discussed informally the work accomplished this year. The fact that women are some-what reluctant to pray in public caused Mrs. McArthur of New York to direct the clety of Michigan, in co-operation with the Woman's Baptist Home Mission Society, the president. Mrs. Fulton explained that the president of the committee had been unable to decide upon a successor at the present time, and after recommending that Missionary Training School.
